PRESS RELEASE

March 2009

Hotel Murano, an international glass hotel, is honored with an award in the "Best Lobby/Public Space - Full Service" category at HotelWorld's Global Hospitality & Design Awards competition in Las Vegas.

"Without the international collection of glass art showcased in the hotel, we could not have achieved this honor," said Denise Corso, principal of CorsoStaicoff.

"The design team focused on making the Murano an interesting and memorable experience while ensuring the design did not overshadow or interrupt the art and its continuity in the hotel."

With multiple entries from all over the world, the Murano design team lead by CorsoStaicoff and Art Curator Tessa Papas is truly honored to be among this caliber of designers and hospitality entries.

The entries were judged by the editorial staff of Hotel & Motel Management, Hotel Design and Luxury Hotelier magazines while design awards were judged by Jeff Ornstein, founder of J/Brice Design International and Dana Kalczak, Vice President, Design and Construction, Four Season Hotel & Resorts.
